BRITISH OFFENSIVE SURGES TOWARD MAAS

CANADIANS ON SCHELDE ARE REINFORCED

Allies Who Landed on South Beveland Island Establish Beachhead Seven Square Miles

SEVERAL TOWNS TAKEN

By WILLIAM FRYE

London, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's five-day British offensive surged toward the Maas (Meuse) today in a three-mile advance which undercut the doomed enemy citadel of Tilburg in Holland.

Dempsey's armor knifed forward to Loon op Zand, four miles north of Tilburg, cutting the German's main escape route, and was riding roughshod over badly armed German rear-guards.

Field Marshal Gen. Walter von Model forces "face the grave prospect of sequel to the Falaise Gap debacle that resulted in the annihilation of von Kluge's German Seventh Army in the Normandy campaign," said Associated Press Correspondent Roger D. Greene in a dispatch from the front.

Canadian forces fighting on both sides of the Schelde in westward advances to open Antwerp, were reinforced by British troops who landed on south Beveland island north of the estuary and established a seven-square mile beachhead.

Field dispatches said several towns were captured in the beachhead by the British who crossed the three to five-mile wide Schelde at 4 a. m., yesterday, swarmed up to 20-foot dike and surprised thinly strung German machine-gunners. The beachhead was strengthened.

The Canadians, completing their drive down the two-mile wide, 10-mile long neck of land connecting the mainland with the island, reached the south Beveland canal which cuts across the neck.

The British, after a 15-mile westward drive in five days from the Nijmegen salient, had hurled the Germans into a collapsing box and were smashing toward the Maas (Meuse) and Holland's Diep.

The British were fighting on a line from three to 16 miles south of the Maas and the Diep. At S. Herengosch, eastern corner of the box, was in British hands. Tilburg, a city of nearly 100,000, 12 miles to the southwest in the center of the line, was almost surrounded, with the Allies in the outskirts. The British were fighting at Zundert, nine miles south of the Maas, and at Breda, 10 miles west of the Maas. The Canadians were within two miles of Roosendaal and about as close to Bergen op Zoom at the western end of the line.

Isolationist Press Truman's Target

With Truman Enroute to Akron, O., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Senator Harry S. Truman invaded Ohio today to ask the defeat of Republican Senator Robert O. Taft in another lap of a trans-continental campaign tour into which, he says, "a reactionary, isolationist press" has sought to inject "a false" Ku Klux Klan issue.

The Democratic vice-president nominee reiterated to reporters that he "never was, am not and never will be" a member of the Ku Klux Klan, and added "anybody that knows me and my record knows how I fought and helped defeat Klan candidates in Missouri."

Meanwhile, members of Truman's campaign group compiled data which they said would be used later in reply to a story appearing in Hearst newspapers quoting affidavits makers so asserting Truman joined the Klan in Missouri in 1922.

Truman planned to make brief stops this afternoon in Toledo and Cleveland before moving on to Akron tonight for a foreign policy address.

Eighth Army Meets Heavy Defenses in Po Valley Drive

Rome, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Eighth Army forces advancing up the Po valley along Highway 9 toward Bologna have come up against heavy German defenses two miles east of Forlì. Allied headquarters announced today.

British and Canadian troops reached the Ronco river on a broad front and at several points patrols crossed the swollen stream but were withdrawn following sharp German counterattacks with tanks.

President in Philadelphia For Tour of Shipyards and Shibe Park Speech Tonight

Philadelphia, Oct. 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, off on a two-day campaign thrust to the midwest, arrived in Philadelphia at noon today for a Navy Day inspection of nearby shipyards and a major Shibe Park speech tonight.

His official party started boarding automobiles almost immediately for a motorcade trip through Philadelphia and nearby Camden, N. J. On the itinerary were visits to the navy yard, the Cramp Shipyard and a Signal Corps depot.

A crowd of 5,000, a railroad spokesman estimated, pressed against police ropes at the station when the train pulled in.

Tens of thousands packed the streets along the president's scheduled route. The police department said the size of the crowd could not be estimated immediately.

Mr. Roosevelt came here from Wilmington, Del., where—bareheaded and without a topcoat—he stood on the rear platform of his train and made a brief heavy-voiced plea to the crowd which came out in the raw, cloudy weather to see the chief executive.

"A big vote in America this year will speak powerfully for the cause of democracy all over the world," he said in Wilmington—then added with a chuckle at the end of his prepared address:

"I won't urge you to vote early and often because if I did I might go to jail."

After his Philadelphia speech tonight the president will turn west for a Saturday platform appearance at Fort Wayne, Ind., and the closing speech of the trip in Chicago's huge Soldier Field Saturday night.

There was a constant threat of rain in the skies as the president's party moved toward Philadelphia, but the weather was nothing like the cold, driving rain which accompanied Mr. Roosevelt through New York a week ago.

In Wilmington, the president paid tribute to local labor for its part in war effort he said "have contributed mightily to the victories we have won."

Traveling with Mr. Roosevelt were Samuel I. Rosenman, his legal advisor; Robert Sherwood, playwright who recently left the Office of War Information to join the White House staff; James Byrnes, an administrative assistant; and Eugene Casey, a special executive assistant. Also in the party were Presidential Secretaries Stephen Early and William D. Hassett and Vice Admiral Ross T. (Turn to Page Thirteen)

ATTACKS UPON SOVIET BULGE DRIVEN BACK

Fall of Important East Prussian Communication Center of Gumbinnen Is Imminent

NEW BATTERIES USED

BULLETIN
London, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Russian troops advanced 15 miles in Czechoslovakia today and captured Ungvár (Uzhhorod), virtually completing the capture of the Carpatho-Ukraine which Hungary seized from the Republic.

London, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Fall of the important East Prussian communications center of Gumbinnen appeared imminent today as the Germans announced evacuation of the civilian population from the path of onrushing Soviet forces.

Heavy counterattacks by German armor infantry against the growing Russian salient in East Prussia were beaten back today by Red army gunners who leveled their field artillery into a deadly antinair screen.

Despite the enemy's continual reinforcement, Gen. Ivan Chervinskoy secured control of a 15-mile stretch on the secondary rail line which runs northwest to Tilsit from the junction on the main Königsberg-Kaunas line, near Stutthof.

Frontline dispatches said "dozens of new German batteries" were introduced in an effort to contain the Russian thrusts aimed at Gumbinnen, from the northeast and southwest.

Against one side of the Russian bulge the enemy launched five consecutive attacks employing as many as two battalions of infantry each time, supported by panther tanks and self-propelled guns. They were broken up with heavy losses to the Germans.

An American commentator, speaking over the Moscow radio, reported that German civilians already were fleeing Königsberg in panic.

Other Russian forces driving through northern Finland captured six localities in the Petsamo area. Soviet planes supporting the Norwegian invasion from Finland sunk more than a dozen small German ships presumably moving down the Norwegian coast after (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Woman Held In Pittsburgh For Kidnaping

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A 22-year-old wife of a Pittsburgh sailor was to be returned to Philadelphia today to face charges in connection with the alleged kidnaping of a seven-month-old baby girl from the wife of another sailor in Philadelphia.

Detective Ernest C. Dunbar reported Mrs. Anna Jackson Cook was arrested last night in her East End home while she was feeding the child, Nancy Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Allen, of Philadelphia.

A check of newsmen who have traveled nearly 20,000 campaign miles with him to all sections of the country except the south showed a majority thought the woman were Detective John (Turn to Page Eleven)

Labor Secretary Change Predicted

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The United Mine Workers Journal suggested in an editorial today that Frances Perkins might be replaced by Anna Rosenberg, a presidential labor advisor, as secretary of labor if President Roosevelt is re-elected.

The Journal also contended editorially that the endorsement of President Roosevelt by Senator Ball (R-Minn.) was the result of "a vote-getting deal" managed by Harry Hopkins.

"If President Roosevelt is re-elected, he may appoint Anna Rosenberg as your next secretary of labor," said the Journal, official organ of John L. Lewis, mine union.

The Journal bitterly opposed to the president, endorsed Wendell L. Willkie in 1940 and has praised Gov. Dewey this year.

The Journal described Mrs. Rosenberg, New York regional director for the War Manpower Commission and the U. S. Employment Service as "a personnel director for millionaire department store owners" and "an out-and-out Roosevelt politician."

Ground Controllers Guide Yank Bombers

With the U. S. Ninth Air Force in Luxembourg, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Guided only by the radio instructors of ground controllers, American Thunderbolt pilots struck through thick clouds yesterday at Saarbrücken in western Germany, dumping 500-pound bombs on their targets.

This use of ground controllers on front line positions as "navigators" was the first attempt at blind bombing by fighter bombers. It was suggested by Lt. Arthur P. Wilden, Jr., Cleveland, Ohio, during the course of the flight, when pilots found the target too overcast for a visual attack.

Brief Report To Commons By Churchill

London, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, declaring that "we are in the last lap" in the war against Germany, told Commons today that the Allied powers are "closing in" on the Nazis "and will crush the life out of their resistance."

In a brief report to commons on his diplomatic-military mission to Moscow, he said that Russia and Britain had reached "a very good working agreement" on the problems of southeastern Europe, but expressed hope that he and Marshal Stalin and President Roosevelt would meet again before the end of the year.

He frankly acknowledged that a solution had not been reached in the long dispute between Russia and Poland.

He said, Britain, Russia and the United States, "are all firmly agreed on the recreation of a strong, free, independent, sovereign Poland, loyal to the Allies and friendly to her great neighbor and liberator, Russia."

He told commons the "present stage of war" is not and should not be expected on all fronts to increase in scale and intensity.

He bluntly told commons that Adolf Hitler is pinning his hopes for winning the war on these two factors: "that by lengthening the struggle he may wear down our resolution and that division may arise between the three great powers."

He reported that never were Britain's relations with Russia more close, intimate and cordial than at the present time and that never had the two nations been able to discuss such "most delicate and potentially vexatious topics" (Turn to Page Eleven)

Calls "Thousand Club" Nonpartisan

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The "One Thousand Club," described in a speech here Wednesday night by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, as organized by the Roosevelt administration to "sell special privilege" to $1,000 donors to the Democratic fourth term campaign, is "non-partisan," says Frank J. Lewis, the group's national chairman.

Lewis, Chicago manufacturer, said last night that the club "has not sought and will not be entitled to receive patronage from any political party."

Lewis, in a statement, declared there were "prominent Republicans as well as Democrats" among the organization's present members, and he added that all of them subscribe to the belief that President Roosevelt "should be permitted to carry on the present war to a conclusion."

SEN. BALL BROADENS EXCUSE FOR FLOPPING

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Senator Joseph H. Ball (R-Minn.) has broadened his criticism of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's campaign, heretofore on foreign policy issues, by asserting that the Republican nominee has "failed to offer the American people a workable, constructive program" of taxation and labor relations.

"His (Dewey's) only solution to our labor relations problem is to appoint a labor leader secretary of labor and place all labor functions under that department," Ball said last night in a radio address explaining his decision to support Mr. Roosevelt for re-election.

Contending that a substantial number of Dewey's supporters "are talking straight isolationist doctrine," Ball said the Roosevelt administration "has reversed the isolationist foreign policy of the United States."

Warren Co. War Fund Drive Is Successfully Concluded With Total of $89,131.39

"By the Skin of Our Teeth . . ."

Thornton Wilder, in his play by that name, suggests that mankind has only managed just to squeeze at various crises in its history "by the skin of our teeth." He might well have been writing a descriptive phrase for the final report meeting of the Warren County United War Fund campaign held last night in the YWCA; for the huge quota of $88,700 was just reached, and that was about all. The final total of $89,131.39 represents an average of barely $431.59.

As the hour for the meeting drew near it was evident that a tense time was in store for the hundreds of workers, division heads, captains, who made up the little army that stormed offices and homes of the county.

"Will we make it . . . ?"

"It looks as if we would fall down by several thousand dollars . . ."

"The Borough will go over, but the county will be short . . ."

Government employees will . . .

These, and other rumors, were circulating freely in the business section of the town as the hours slowly ticked away late yesterday afternoon. Even the heads of the campaign-men who can appraise the pulse-beat of the effort by the stethoscope of years of experience—would only say, "it's going to be tough."

From the moment the Reverend Wayne Furman finished his invocation and the meeting was declared open for reports, it was evident that no such sweeping triumph as the 1943 campaign was in the cards. Workers hurriedly compiled last-minute reports. Captains and division heads rushed from table to table, gathering cards, adding totals, trying to speed up the completion of rows of figures.

First report called for was that of big Division A under the chairmanship of C. T. Conar, who has served in more campaigns than most of us have hairs on our head. This huge industrial division had been asked to produce a total of $45,700, more than half of the quota for the entire campaign. It did, with a margin to spare. The final report of Mr. Conar was $46,943, a gain of $1,243.

Next on the list was Division B, covering the business section of the community, under Chairman Ed. Ley. Its quota was $7,500, its final report $7,512.00—a "skin of the teeth" gain of $12, but a gain none the less.

Mrs. Dawson's report was next called for, but the tabulation of this big group was not quite finished, so others were asked for. L. D. Morlock, chairman for chain stores, was not present but his report was presented as being $1,529 against a quota of $1,500; an overage of barely $29.

Mrs. Dawson's report was now given and received a rousing ovation from every worker present. Mrs. Dawson's fine organization does all the house-to-house work, all the doorbell pushing, all the "homework" in the borough—and really does it. Her quota was $8,500, her final result $8,611, the largest single gain in the campaign of about $1,600, and the largest factor in keeping the results "in the black" on the final total.

Too much credit—as Mr. Johnson emphasized—cannot be given to the magnificent job done by Division C.

So far, so good.

But still the tight-rope atmosphere of the proceedings showed no sign of relaxing. Successes thus far, with the exception of Division A and C, had been slim. What if E should fall down? What if the all-important G should be short? What if . . .

Well, you can see how it was . . .

Division E did, indeed, fail to meet its goal by a small margin; though its chairman, John G. Rossman, did one of the most conscientious jobs of campaigning in Warren County's history. The quota was $2,500. The result $2,133. Well, even so, we were still slightly ahead.

Next report was $50 for Division F, including the clubs. This (Turn to Page Eleven)

Nation Jubilant On 169th Anniversary of U. S. Navy

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The United States navy proudly celebrated its 169th anniversary today, all hands jubilant over what may prove to be its biggest victory in battle.

Excitation is evident throughout the navy as word spread of the crushing defeat handed the Japanese navy by the Pacific fleet.

But with it all there is a note of caution, from Navy Secretary Forrestal himself, who said last night that despite "blasting" of "30-cd Japanese warships" the enemy still has a sizeable fleet.

Unofficial figures show that this fleet may total as many as 175 warships of all types, excluding submarines, and Forrestal says: "Regardless of the final count, there seems to be agreement that the Japanese fleet is crippled and never again can hope for any degree of success in a large scale naval engagement. It must continue efficient and logical operations to harassment of American convoys and small naval units."

The Japs have failed," said Vice Admiral Edwards, deputy commander in chief of the U. S. fleet in asserting they had attempted to halt liberation of the Philippines. "Their fleet is badly hurt. Consequently . . ."

SOLID FRONT OF 40 MILES IS CARVED OUT

General Advance of MacArthur's Forces Continue Despite Japanese Resistance

CONTROL EAST COAST

By MURLIN SPENCER

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Leyte, Philippines, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Fast-moving American doughboys have carved out a solid 40-mile-long invasion front on Leyte island and have surged deeper inland to free an additional 15 communities, a communique reported today.

The general advance continued, despite increased Japanese resistance west of Palo, in the north-central sector, and a counter-attack which was repulsed on Samar island. American guns and planes bagged 76 Japanese aircraft during "intermittent harassing raids" on the invasion armada.

The Americans secured control of Leyte's eastern coast, from the northern tip to Dulag, when the 10th and 24th army corps joined forces. The juncture was made south of American-held Tanauan, some 10 miles below Tacloban.

Simultaneously, the southern end of the Leyte valley trap was being closed tighter by tanked-down boys who captured two key towns in a double-pronged drive that overran several communities off the main highways.

Buri, previously bypassed because of its strong defenses, was captured after severe fighting by 7th division forces punching up the valley's north-south highway. They previously took the Buri airfield and advanced several miles along the highway from the captured road junction of Burauen. Their main immediate goal evidently is Dagami, a communications town near the center of the roadway.

The 96th Division, pushing inland from the coast toward Dagami, captured Tabontanan, a river town eastward. The town is 3½ miles west of Catmon Hill, where (Turn to Page Eleven)

Wallace Casts HIS ABSENTEE BALLOT

Detroit, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Vice President Henry A. Wallace cast his absentee Iowa ballot today and at a subsequent press conference smilingly announced to a group of news men that it had been a "straight Democratic ballot."

"You know," he said, after filling out the ballot in his hotel room here, "the more votes that are cast, the more democracy you have."

The vice president, on a three-day campaign tour of Michigan, repeated the claim he made in an address yesterday that President Roosevelt would carry Michigan by 100,000 votes.

Jap Naval Disaster Stems From An Amazing Gamble

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—American losses in defeating the Japanese navy in the battle of the Philippines totaled six warships—the aircraft carrier Princeton, two escort carriers, 2 destroyers and a destroyer escort. Names of the vessels, except the Princeton, which were lost in sinking or damaging at least 27 Japanese warships, were not disclosed in the navy's brief communique today, pending notification of next of kin of casualties aboard the ships.

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A Japanese naval disaster, threatening momentarily to surpass Nippon's 35-warship tragedy of 1942 off Guadalcanal, stemmed today from an amazing gamble which actually succeeded in getting enemy warships perilously close to America's invasion beaches on Leyte.

The confirmed sinking or damaging of 27 warships, including three carriers and 10 battleships, in a trio of naval-air encounters off the Philippines, tells a far from completed story.

Remnants of the once proud Imperial fleet which, it can now be disclosed, actually penetrated Leyte Gulf and attacked transports engaged in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's landings, still were under relentless air pursuit. MacArthur announced today his land-based Liberators have damaged an enemy light cruiser in the Mindanao Sea.

Several enemy destroyers are known to have gone down which are not included in the confirmed 27.

Today, Vice Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid, whose outnumbered Seventh Fleet turned the tide from threatened disaster into history-making triumph in Leyte Gulf, made clear much more remains to be catalogued officially.

It was Kinkaid who split up his fleet, took on two enemy warship forces converging on the Leyte invasion scene and trounced both while submarines and warships and carrier planes of Adm. William F. Halsey, Jr.'s Third Fleet surprised and dealt mortal blows on enemy flatboats attempting a sneak punch from Formosa waters.

MacArthur-Nimitz communicates on the two battles near Leyte, plus a flagship dispatch from Rear Adm. Daniel Barbey, listed 14 enemy warships confirmed as sunk or damaged in those battles.

Eight of the 14—two battleships, three cruisers and three destroyers—were sunk. Four battleships, a cruiser and a destroyer were (Turn to Page Eleven)

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About the Town

Early birds out this morning missed the light in the Warren Bank and Trust clock tower, as where the illuminated clock faces usually greet the boys in the early hours, only blackness reigned. Somehow the clock is a sort of friendly thing to see at night and the light is out it is sorely missed. Here is hoping Merle Deardorf hops up there with a light bulb today and gets the lights on again all over the clock.

Jay Pees of the Department of Forests and Waters rambles over the woodlands of this section mile upon mile and is sort of on speaking terms with almost all of the bears in the county. He reports that bear signs have been especially prevalent this fall on the Hedgehog and in the Hearts Content sections of the county. One big black fellow sat in the middle of the Hearts Content road the other day and remained seated until an automobile was within ten feet of him. His bearship then rose, grunted, and leisurely ambled off into the brush at the side of the road. The big fellows are fat and seem to be rather sassy.

Plenty of conjecture has been made by those who scan the village streets for signs of improvements as to why the Norris Company has not placed a sign on their building over the shop doors. Being somewhat nosy as to the lack of a sign, an inquiry brought forth the fact that a sign was in process of being made by Raymond Norris, Jr., and that it would soon be in place. The new sign is said to be a novel and attractive one. The improvement of the Norris stores has been one of the best improvements made along the main drag during the past summer.

Guy McCloskey, one of the county's hunters and anglers, reported this morning at the symposium held each day at the Blumber Gossip headquarters, that a flock of snow geese was seen on the land beyond the Jackson avenue extension. And did you know there was a scarcity of workmen's canvas gloves? There are few in town and men who use them are having a heck of a time keeping a supply on hand. One bird who squawks loudest about the scarcity of things and the evils of hoarding today eased the gum situation by buying fifty cents worth of the chewy stuff. Wintry blasts and falling snow are not to the liking of DeVere Kirberger and as he hustled to work with upturned collar this morning he reported that the he stayed close to his own fireside last night. "Ole" Olson, gardener at the Rockwell home, has been waging a losing battle with falling leaves and turned an eye on the snow flakes coming down this morning with visions of snow to shovel soon. It just came to light anent the assaults on the privies during the old time Hal-low-e'en that the late Walter Bowel, of the Fourth ward, made up his mind one time that his two-holer would not be overturned that night. So he went out and camped in it. Finally as the hour grew late he ran out of tobacco and hustled indoors to get a supply. He was only gone a minute but on his return found his rest room on its side. Incidentally, Dick Shoemaker, of the Sylvia, picks Warren to beat Ridgway by one touch-down.

Lenr Thompson, who for many years was a woodsman with the Wheeler and Dusenbury Lumber Company recently purchased the old Heart's Content farm near Heart's Content. An old woodsman Mr. Thompson loves the woods and is an ardent hunter. On the farm is a big square farm house and passersby will remember it from the large cupola on top. Mr. Thompson is laying plans to arrange the big house as quarters for hunters, according to reports. It would make admirable quarters for bear and deer hunters who are seeking places to stay during the season, should Mr. Thompson carry out the plans reported. The old farm house is a snug haven in the cold winters and fortunate indeed would be the men who find quarters there.

Mr. Thompson is also planning on laying out a large part of the farm in sites for camp areas which will be leased or sold to parties desiring to erect a resort in the section where game is most abundant. The proposition should prove a money maker as each year more and more persons and organizations buy sites for camps and when the land is liked or building a game or more are to be erected.

Next week the Nimrods with their dogs and guns will take to the woodlands and the crack of guns and the rattle of shot will be heard in the land. That there will be many hunters out for the opening is reflected in the fact that about 1000 licenses have been sold at the office of the county treasurer while many others have been sold at places about the county. The matter of ammunition has worried the boys quite a lot but this is being solved in a way that will give the hunters enough to secure a bag of game if they use their shells sparingly and do not waste them. Hoarders have been busy in the stores selling ammu-

Exterminator Men Doing An Excellent Job In Aachen

By HAL BOYLE

Aachen, Germany, Oct. 18--(Delayed)--(AP)--Unofficial "mayor of Aachen" is a 26-year old American captain, who daily toured this wrecked city to see that Doughboys got supporting fire in prodigious German defenders from attic and basement shelters.

Whenever Nazis holed up for a last-ditch defense, you could look around and find Capt. Gilbert H. Fuller of Ludlow, Vt., calmly twirling a borrowed enemy cane and calling up mortars and machine-guns to blast them out.

Ask Fuller what he did before entering the army, and he will first say, "my memory isn't that good," and then he'll add, "I guess I was just a playboy."

He is one of the most popular junior officers along the front. His men like him because he came up from the ranks during his four years service, and hasn't got officer's complex.

The troops like him, too, because he fights gallly. No matter how the enemy mortar or artillery fire skowders down, they always can glance around and see him grinning cheerfully. It causes their own unconscious fear of death to ebb.

He is one of the few men in this nasty, house-to-house cleanup who actually seems to enjoy the job. He has a boy's love of battle, and one positive theory of street fighting.

"Just throw around all the firepower you can--and the rest isn't as hard. Make a lot of noise in the streets and you can scare the nition but the dealers are doing their best to see that the supply goes as far as possible. The Everts Store has already disposed of two shipments and is anticipating the securing of another before the season opens.

enemy. They run into cellars, and then you teach them to be good with a grenade--if they haven't already had enough."

So his heavy machineguns and mortars have kept up an almost continuous barrage ahead of advancing Doughboys who have to do the actual flushing out of the enemy. Since he went to work, every day has been Fourth of July in Aachen.

"We can put our mortar shells down within 100 yards of our own infantry," he said. "It doesn't make too much difference whether you have a specific target to shoot at. If you keep throwing a lot of fire and making enough bang-bang, you'll pin the Jerries inside and keep their heads down so they can't snipe."

His abtest assistant is a tall, young staff sergeant, Louis Chase of Springfield, Vt., whom Capt. Fuller describes without qualification as "the best mortarman in the U. S. Army."

Says Fuller: "He's faster and can throw more fire on a target in less time than any other man I ever saw. He has two mortar guns and 20 men in his section. He can keep 15 mortars in the air from each gun--and those mortar shells hit like artillery. That means when the first shell hits the target there are 28 others already on the way, too. That's some shooting!"

"That guy came into the army right off the farm. I don't know anyone cooler or more courageous under fire. His whole section was cited for the job they did in other battles, and he was awarded the silver star."

In my first walk through the desolate avenues of this famous tourist gateway to old Germany, I saw visual evidence of Sgt. Chase's mortar artistry.

Actually the structure is a stone hangar. "Shopfront" in center of photo is its rolling doors. NAVY DAY

Today, Navy Day, finds the United States in possession of the mightiest floating fighting force in the world—and in the months ahead our fleets, which this week in the Pacific, have again covered themselves with glory, will be put to their severest tests.

The hard fact is that the Navy sees a long fight ahead and the war in the Pacific will occupy every ship and plane we can muster.

Well over 1,000 combatant ships—which include destroyers escorts and submarines as the smallest classes—are now in service. These are in addition to 65,000 vessels of other types and 57,600 planes which have been added to the fleet since the outbreak of war in Europe. To operate these great fleets, over 3,700,000 officers and men are now in our Naval service.

In spite of those tremendous figures, the Navy still faces the necessity of continued expansion. Three hundred eighty three thousand more men, plus replacements, will be needed from civilian sources by the middle of 1945. Our Navy needs more ships, more planes and tools of war that are specifically designed for the Pacific area.

To substantiate their statements that the war with Japan will continue a minimum of 1½ to 2 years following the defeat of Germany, Navy men point to these facts: (1) Japan is still capable of increasing her production of war equipment; (2) Geography fights on the side of the Japanese—our newest bases are still 1,500 miles from her shores; (3) A tremendous shipping problem remains to be solved; (4) The course of the war in China is in Japan's favor; (5) Japan's army has not yet been mustered to its full strength.

That these odds can be overcome, the Navy has no doubt—but it will take time, materials and lives to do the job.

So your Navy reaches its anniversary facing the most difficult problems of its 169 years, but with the assurance that victory will eventually be ours.

SALUTE TO GIRL SCOUTS

It is of more than passing interest to note that the Warren County Council has mapped a most interesting program for the local observance of Girl Scout Week, October 29 to November 5, which will be launched Sunday afternoon at four o'clock with a rally meeting at Beaty school.

In Warren county this organization, which has spread all over the civilized world, is represented by a Council that rates high with the best in the state.

After Sir Robert Baden-Powell, of Great Britain, had organized the Boy Scouts, his sister suggested the forming of a girls' association, on the same lines. In this country, Miss Juliette Low, of Savannah, Ga., organized the First Patrol of Girl Guides and when, in 1913, the headquarters were moved to Washington, D. C., the name was changed to Girl Scouts.

The Scout Laws are Truth, Loyalty, Helpfulness, Cheerfulness, Friendliness, Kindness, Obedience, Purity, Thrift.

In 1915 at a convention of Girl Scout leaders, a National Committee was formed which put the business of the National organization in the hands of an executive committee. Each city or locality has a local committee of twelve or more members. In 1916 the National Headquarters were moved to New York.

It is a genuine pleasure to join with other communities in the county in saluting our well-organized and most progressive Girl Scout Council and its enthusiastic young members.

They say it's an ill wind that blows nobody good, but the only comfort the Japanese can get out of the Yankee hurricane which they ran into off the Philippine archipelago is that their disaster was no worse. With more facts about this historic engagement at hand—though the story is far from complete—we now can say with assurance that the Nipponese have suffered not only a major defeat but a decisive one. It's decisive in that it guarantees the Allies success in the great and difficult battle of the Philippines. And since these islands are the key to the war in the Pacific we know that this conflict will be greatly shortened.

Is it with a great feeling of satisfaction and pride that announcement is made today that the Warren County United War Fund Campaign for $88,700 was found to be oversubscribed by $431.39, at the final report meeting held at the YWCA Thursday evening. The campaign this year loomed as a challenge to all to do their share in defending the home front and the American way of life. The result is most gratifying. Our congratulations to the chairman and his large organization of self-sacrificing officials and workers.

What It Means

By HERMAN R. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The air is thick with proposals for postwar corporation and individual tax structures. Almost without exception they call for tax reductions, but there is considerable debate whether any very extensive tax reduction will be possible for many years.

Leading Proposals

These are the leading proposals: 1. The Committee for Economic Development plan. The CED is a group of business men. They suggest that personal income tax levies be reduced to a single standard tax of 16 to 20 per cent, instead of 23 per cent now collected on the lowest bracket of taxable income, and eliminating the three per cent normal tax. Surtaxes would start at three per cent on the second $2,000. Elimination of the normal tax would remove some 9,000,000 persons from the tax rolls.

The CED would tax corporations at 16 to 20 per cent also, doing away with the present combined normal and surtax of 40 per cent and excess profits tax of up to 95 per cent. It would also repeal all excise taxes except those on liquor, tobacco and perhaps gasoline.

2. The National Planning Association proposal. The NPA is composed of representatives of business, labor and government officials. This plan, work of Beardsley Ruml, sponsor of the Pay-As-You-Go tax and H. Christian Sonne, a banker, is quite similar to the CED plan. It envisions a five per cent franchise tax for corporations, plus a 16 per cent tax on undistributed profits. It would start individual income taxes at 16 per cent and collect a surtax starting at one per cent on the third $1,000 of taxable income.

3. The "Twin Cities" plan. Backers of the proposal, a group of Minnesota business men, say "relatively heavy corporate income tax rates are not as harmful to the private enterprise system as are heavy individual income tax rates." Therefore they would keep the corporation tax rate at 40 per cent for businesses making more than $50,000 a year, but would eliminate the excess profits tax. Smaller businesses would pay smaller tax rates.

Sales Tax Options

The Twin Cities plan offers two suggested programs for individual income taxes, one involving a five per cent sales tax, the other without sales tax. With the sales tax, it would set exemptions as follows: $600 for a single person, $1,400 for a married person, $400 for each dependent. (Present exemption is $500 for each taxpayer and dependent.) Without the sales tax, exemptions would be $500 single, $1,200 married, $350 each dependent.

Taxes would be levied at these rates: With sales tax, normal tax 10 per cent, surtaxes starting at six per cent on second $2,000; without sales tax, same normal tax, surtaxes starting at six per cent on first $2,000.

The Twin Cities plan also proposes that 40 per cent of dividends received by individuals from domestic corporations be tax exempt. This is aimed at stimulating investment.

Both Parties For It

Both major party platforms call for reduction in taxes after the war, and Gov. Dewey, in his radio speech, on Oct. 3, offered a "program to take effect immediately after victory is won." Included was a proposal to "revise the personal exemptions so that the man who makes as little as $11 a week no longer has an income tax taken out of his pay envelope."

Depending on his number of dependents and choice as to taking personal exemption, a person earning $11 a week now has from 10 cents to $2.50 tax deducted from his pay.

Mr. Dewey also proposed to reduce corporate and individual income tax rates, abolish special war time taxes immediately after the war and simplify the excise tax schedule.

The reduction in taxes for some time to come after peace are questioned by some authorities. Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, has cautioned against "premature" reduction because "every attempt should be made to bring about a balanced budget at the earliest possible date after the war."

Byrd Wants Debt Paid

Sen. Byrd, member of the Senate Finance Committee, says he favors reducing both corporate and individual taxes as much as possible after the war but that he wants to see enough money coming into the Treasury to service the national debt. He estimates the debt may reach 300 billion dollars. It now is over 200 billion.

Byrd thinks the excess profits tax should be abolished. Sen. George, chairman of the Finance committee, favors reducing the tax but says he doesn't think there will be any drastic reduction in individual income tax rates immediately after the war.

The Right Bait At Last!

You can be a Delegate at the Peace Table

You can be a delegate at the Peace Table... if you start asking yourself, right now, "What kind of peace do I want?"

If you ask and understand and make up your mind—if the rest of us do—we will give our representatives at the Peace Table the authority which comes from knowing the heart and mind of the nation.

That is why you will be at the Peace Table. And you and the rest of us must be there: that is the only way for Democracy to work.

You, as a citizen of this democracy, have an obligation to be one of the deciders in this hour of decision. But first, you must have the truth—and an understanding of events which are shaping tomorrow's world.

You, as an owner of a radio set, can gain this understanding—through an aspect of democracy which the peace-makers of the last war knew little about—through radio.

Radio brings you not only the story of events as they unfold—but radio has given freedom of speech a new dimension—national impact of free speech that is informed and intelligent.

Perhaps more than any other network, the Blue

Network sees in the power of radio the deep obligation to serve its millions of listeners—an obligation embodied in the Blue policy—"In the Service of The People."

In living up to its policy, the Blue presents to its listeners a three-part service of programs—(1) the running story of events, (2) courageous as well as sense-making analysis and commentary and (3) the greatest of all—free and many-sided discussion. Typical of this three-part service are three programs devoted to the cause of better understanding of the world and the problems of peace:

AMERICA'S TOWN MEETING OF THE AIR

a program which presents both sides of all the fundamental issues facing our people—a program which extends the democratic influence of the old town meeting into millions of homes—which expands its topics from the old local to the new national and international scope of interest and importance. A program which sheds light—rejuvenates freedom of speech—promotes understanding.

TIME VIEWS THE NEWS

a program which gives the story of the news in terms of first-hand, on-the-spot dispatches from the 200 reporters and foreign correspondents forming one of the world's most dynamic news-gathering groups—the world-wide organization established by TIME and LIFE magazines—a program which brings the global picture into sharper focus in millions of homes.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS ABROAD

a program presenting the Blue's own corps of 18 experienced men—such as George Hicks, Ted Malone, Cleve Roberts, William Ewing, Gordon Fraser—located in such vantage points as London, Paris, Rome, Cairo, Chungking, Australia, and Pearl Harbor.

In addition to these and to the news—the Blue brings you the analyses of such celebrated commentators and reporters as Raymond Gram Swing, Leland Stowe, Drew Pearson, Walter Winchell, Dorothy Thompson and Earl Godwin.

Through these programs and services, the Blue helps you to understand the world—to make up your mind—to become a delegate at the Peace Table where—with your help—your representatives will shape the Peace you want.

Late Fruits Aided By Rain In September

Harrisburg, Oct. 27—Sizing of late fruits has been aided by the September rains, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service, State Department of Agriculture declares in its general crop report of October 1 conditions.

Many apple trees in the Berks-Lehigh area are loaded with small fruit, but where properly thinned it is of good size. Yorks have improved but the moisture has caused considerable cracking of Staymans.

Harvesting for canning is in full swing but the quality of apples is not so good as desired. Grape clusters in the Erie belt are compact and berries unusually sweet.

The indicated production of commercial apples was 9,100,000 bushels as of October 1, an increase of approximately 4 million bushels over 1943. The peach crop then was estimated at 1,886,000 bushels, or 710,000 more than last year. The pear crop of 458,000 bushels exceeded that of 1943 by 284,000 bushels. The grape crop was indicated at 20,000 tons, or 4,700 more than 1943.

"WAKE UP, AMERICA!"

Have We Been Too Lenient With Enemy Aliens?

As debated by
James R. Young
Author of "Behind the Rising Sun" and "Road to Tokyo"

Arthur Garfield Hays
Celebrated Author, Chief Counsel for the American Civil Liberties Union

MR. YOUNG OPENS: We are a softhearted people plagued with muddled thinkers who holler "liberty for all" respecting a great many aliens with whom we have been too lenient. We are still shamelessly lenient in tolerating the presence of those who would willingly work for their fatherland or their ancestors. I believe most Germans are by heredity interested in extending Prussianism or Hitlerism. Very few Japanese are not born into wholesale espionage. Neither group can be honest with themselves. Their past records show that leniency encourages their selfish activity and doctrines in colleges, schools, libraries and so-called goodwill cultural societies. We are too lenient in bowing to alien diplomatic protocol. We play sports for the sake of sportsmanship but in an international Olympics the Germans and Japs, if they know you are lenient, play for keeps. Fortunately for America, excess leniency toward aliens has been countered by vigorous federal action. Unfortunately, such protection to the U. S. has been hampered by civil liberties enthusiasts. There are still at large aliens who should be interned. I wonder how many of these aliens would be lenient to Mr. Hays in Germany or Japan?

MR. HAYS CHALLENGES: The governments of Germany and Japan are neither lenient nor just. What they would do should not be a pattern for us. Mr. Young's generalities are a serious reflection on the FBI and the Department of Justice. The fact is, we have not been lenient. We have tried to be just. Does Mr. Young disapprove of this? How has this impeded our war effort? Judging people and punishing them en masse does not work. A number of Germans here have fled from Hitler and hate his gang. A number of Americans in Japan have been pampered and coddled. (3) Japanese cultural pursuits are promoted to inspire Japanism, not Americanism, at the taxpayers' expense. Contrast this, Mr. Hays, with the treatment suffered by me and thousands of other Americans interned in Japan after Pearl Harbor with the treatment suffered by American women captured in Hong Kong and Singapore. No, Mr. Hays, we don't lop off the heads of interned enemy aliens—we do not lop off the heads of Japanese fliers, either—but the Japs did behead our fliers!

MR. YOUNG REPLIES: The War Relocation Authority has been the storm center of continuous Congressional investigations on known facts: (1) tens of thousands of Japanese enemy aliens were shuttled back into our civilian population because of improper screening tests; (2) thousands of others blindly loyal to Hitler have been pampered and coddled; (3) Japanese cultural pursuits are promoted to inspire Japanism, not Americanism, at the taxpayers' expense. Contrast this, Mr. Hays, with the treatment suffered by me and thousands of other Americans interned in Japan after Pearl Harbor with the treatment suffered by American women captured in Hong Kong and Singapore. No, Mr. Hays, we don't lop off the heads of interned enemy aliens—we do not lop off the heads of Japanese fliers, either—but the Japs did behead our fliers!

CROWDED JAVA

Java, now temporarily in the hands of the Japanese, has an area of only 50,000 square miles, less than the state of Alabama. This island has a population of 40,000,000 persons, or nearly one-third that of the United States.

Map above shows how continuous, ever-forward pounding of American forces in the Pacific has broken up Japan's formidable empire of conquered islands. Only a few islands remain under Jap control within the former limits of her farthest advance, and these are all vulnerable to American air and sea attack, as are the Philippines and Japanese home islands themselves.

Nationwide Bible Reading Plan Is Adopted By Ministers for Warren

The Warren County Ministerial Association has approved the plan for Bible reading which is being sponsored by the American Bible Society and by laymen's committees and clergymen well known throughout the nation for Christian character and service.

In accord with this plan, the association will endeavor to provide a little folder which has been prepared in explanation and direction of chapters to be read each day beginning with Thanksgiving and continuing to Christmas.

This will make possible a definite, united and practical procedure and the reading plan is being urged for all, young and old, with the belief that it will result in spiritual good and blessing and a better acquaintance with God's Holy Word.

A committee has been named and an effort will be made to get the little folder to each home. Family members are asked to share them, so that all may read uniformly and unitedly.

The booklets will be sent to those who are in our armed forces, also, so that they may join members of their family in the readings.

The association expresses the hope that when the new year comes, many will go right on reading this greatest book of all books and thereby receive the blessings that come from its perusal.

"The Holy Scripture is able to make thee wise unto salvation"—Tim. 3:15.

First Hike Of Season To Be Staged Sunday

The Allegheny Hiking Club will begin its sixth season of Sunday afternoon journeys next Sunday, October 29. The hikers will assemble at their regular meeting place at General Joseph Warren park, corner Pennsylvania avenue and Poplar street, at 2:15 o'clock, ready to leave at 2:30.

The first trip for this year will be planned by Ike Reed, veteran hiker of the group, and Bob Mackay, who together have guided the hikers over the great majority of their journeys on the woods paths and roads of Warren county, and who with Elton Davis, prepared the map of 100 hikes shown in the Geraci's restaurant.

Next Sunday will provide the 131st hike of this group of outdoor enthusiasts. The 130 preceding ones have covered a total of 786 miles, averaging a little over six miles, and from the first hike in October 1939, the attendance has averaged 17 persons. Nearly every area in Warren County has been included, and autumn, winter and spring have their special devotees, with many preferring the zesty days of coldest weather.

Former hikers and newcomers are cordially invited to join in the first trip of this season, and those planning to go are asked to telephone 1024-R or 848 before Sunday noon.

FARM NEWS

Harrisburg, Oct. 26.—(P)—The State Bureau of Markets today suggested Pennsylvania housewives lay in a bushel of their favorite apples for the holiday season ahead.

Plenty of fresh fruit is now available at ceiling prices or less, said D. M. James, head of the bureau's fruit and vegetable division, and consumers with proper storage facilities will be wise to buy their winter supply now.

"Built-in storage compartments in home cellars," a bureau statement said, "are usually safe for keeping apples, provided temperature and moisture can be controlled to prevent rapid ripening and shriveling of the fruit."

The bureau listed Stayman, Grimes, Jonathan and Golden Delicious as varieties now available on markets for both cooking and out-of-hand eating purposes. Red Delicious and MacIntosh are popular for eating only while Yorks are favored for cooking and late keeping.

Japanese beetles decreased substantially in the Philadelphia area this year and no additional infestations were discovered elsewhere in the state, according to Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, director of the Bureau of Plant Industry of the Department of Agriculture.

The beetle population increased somewhat during the year in a few areas west of the general area of heavy infestation—that section south and east of Harrisburg, but these spots for the most part were along railway rights of way.

In Philadelphia, Dr. Guyton added, the pests were practically absent along the water fronts, public squares and business sections of the city and there have been no heavy flights of beetles there since 1934.

The Pennsylvania Soy Bean Co-operative Association is doubling the production facilities of its processing plant at Jersey Shore, Lycoming county, the State Department of Commerce announced.

The new installations include a 30,000 bushel storage building and a 14,000-gallon oil tank which will give the plant storage space for 70,000 bushels and oil tank capacity of 28,000 gallons.

The Commerce Department said favorably growing, manufacturing and merchandising conditions in the state have resulted in the plant increasing its production almost 1000 per cent since it began operations in the fall of 1939 by processing 15,000 bushels of beans and shipping 8,000 gallons of oil, or about one tank car.

In the current year, the plant processed 158,000 bushels of beans and sent out 19 tank cars of oil.

Organized with 150 members, the cooperative sold preferred stock to Jersey Shore business men to raise sufficient capital to begin operations. The Commerce Department said the organization since then has retired all the preferred stock and is now owned by 250 holders of common stock.

The soy beans processed at the plant are grown on farms within a radius of 100 miles of Jersey Shore. The oil is channeled by the government to refineries for use as salad dressing on foodstuffs, butter substitutes and other items using vegetable oils. The soy bean meal is sold as feed for cattle, hogs and chickens.

Pupils Salvage 3 Million Tin Cans In Sept

Harrisburg, Oct. 27—Nearly 3,000,000 prepared tin cans were collected through the schools in Pennsylvania in September, Col. S. Baker, executive secretary of the State Council of Defense's Salvage committee, has announced. Schools in 41 counties participated in the collections. Prizes and citations were awarded as follows:

Pupils collecting the greatest number of cans: First prize, $100 in War Bonds, Robert Reading Porter Township High School, Reimertown, Schuylkill County, who collected 30,233 cans; Second prize, $50 War Bond, Clarence Baus, 543 East Market Street, Pottsville, pupil of Jackson School, Pottsville, Schuylkill County, who collected 12,000 cans; Third prize $25 War Bond, John Hartline, 2129 Cleveland Avenue, West Lawn, Berks County, pupil of the West Wyoissing School, who collected 8,300 cans.

Citations were awarded to Clarence M. Long, county schools superintendent of Armstrong County for the greatest number of schools participating; to A. F. Kemp, superintendent of Berks County, the county having the largest collection of cans, and to the Patrick's Annex School, of Pottsville for having collected the greatest number of cans per pupil.

Sixty-six schools in Armstrong County participated in the collections. Pupils in the Berks County schools collected 231,733 cans, T. St. Patrick's Annex School, with an enrollment of 110 pupils, averaged 210 cans per pupil.

Five hundred and sixty schools collected cans in September, total collection amounting to 933,161 cans.

"October's goal," said Baker, "is 10,000,000 cans through school collections. The infantile paralysis epidemic that delayed school openings in many counties, together with late openings in other counties in which children were employed in harvesting fruit and vegetable crops, prevented many schools from getting started."

"Tin today ranks with paper the No. 1 critical war material, and we have asked the full cooperation of every school. Housewives throughout the State are asked to prepare their cans and give them to the school children for collection."

Department of Agriculture scientists have been working varieties of dates that ripen earlier and are more rain-tolerant.

CORYDON

Corydon, Oct. 22—Mrs. Lawrence Elder entertained members of her card club Oct. 14, Wednesday evening, prizes being awarded to Mrs. Gladys Smith, Mrs. Lida Wilcox and Mrs. Jessie Bennett.

The hostess served a delicious luncheon and the party was a very enjoyable one.

Mrs. Carl Laubach and small son, accompanied by Mr. Laubach, arrived in Corydon some days ago.

Mr. Laubach returned to his army base in Texas last week where he is training in the Medical Corp.

Mrs. Laubach and son expect to remain at their home in Corydon indefinitely.

The Corydon Nazarene church was the scene of a pretty wedding Friday afternoon when the pastor Rev. Allen P. Phautz united in marriage Miss Barbara Elsie Marney, of Onoville, N. Y., and Mrs. Raymond L. Birt of Frewsburg, N. Y. Miss Marney was attended by Nina Jarrett as bridesmaid and Cecil Jarrett was Mr. Birt's best man. Huge baskets of small white chrysanthemums banked the pulpit. The bride was gowned in white satin, with a long net veil, orange blossom coronet, and carried a bouquet of small white chrysanthemums. Ushers were Robert Birt and Vivian Burch. A reception followed the ceremony at the Red Wing Restaurant, Onoville, N. Y.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Birt will reside in their home in Frewsburg, N. Y. Among those from Corydon attending the reception were Rev. and Mrs. Phautz, daughter Noreen, and Mrs. Rubie

Day.

Mrs. Lida Wilcox was hostess to members of her "500" club last Tuesday with prizes awarded to Mrs. Martha Dugan, Mrs. Lottie Whyte, Mrs. Edna Tome and Mrs. Aida Elder. Mrs. Floyd Smith is the next hostess.

Friends and relatives of Mrs. Margaret Morrison Turney were gathered to hear of her death last week in Jamestown General Hospital.

She attended the Corydon school reunion of 1944, having been a pupil of the late D. L. McMurren and for a number of years before her marriage to Mr. Clifford Turney she taught in local country schools. Her husband and three children, also some grand-children survive. One son died in infancy. Funeral services in her memory were held Tuesday at 2:30 at her home, Stow, N. Y.

Friends have received word from Mrs. John Reid, Oil City, that her grand-daughter Jean Lee Goldsborough, Narbeth, Pa., is recovering from infantile paralysis in a Philadelphia hospital. Little Jean spent some time here with her grandparents and was much loved by all who knew the little miss.

Business visitors to Warren the past week were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Learn, Mrs. P. E. Tome and daughter Patricia, Miss Lucia Brown, Mrs. Rubie Day and Mrs. R. R. Wilcox.

As the funeral of Mrs. George Hollister was on Thursday last, the Ladies Aid of the M. E. church postponed their meeting until next Thursday, when they meet with Mrs. Rubie Day and plan to tie the quilt they have made.

From discarded tin cans, one Army officer fashioned a ladle, a coo, a frying pan, cooking pot, pitcher, a combination lamp and heating stove, a friction top shaker and a gasoline cooker.

For every graduating pilot, the Army's Technical Training Command must turn out from ten to 20 mechanics and technicians.

The roots of the date palm must have plenty of water, while above ground the atmosphere must be dry and hot for the ripening fruit.

Number of Factors Involved In the Shortage of Sugar

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 27.—(P)—Sugar is tight. Some government officials say this situation should begin improving now. Others say they don't know how long it will prevail.

There are a number of factors involved in the shortage. By shortage is meant insufficient supplies of refined sugar to meet the demands.

The squeeze is felt in parts of this country, particularly in the middle-west. Here are some of the factors as outlined by the War Food Administration:

The fruit crop was larger than last year. There was extra heavy demand by housewives for sugar for canning.

There was a large production of milk last summer. More condensed milk was made. This called for more sugar.

A few months ago corn was short. A lot of sugar was used to replace corn sweeteners.

There was an egg surplus this year. A lot of sugar went into freezing egg yolks for confectionery use.

Last fall's beet sugar crop was smaller than usual.

As the demand piled up the stocks of beet sugar—which is refined into granulated sugar just like cane—went down until by Sept. 1 they had reached the lowest point since 1935.

While the demand for beet sugar mounted, the refiners had manpower trouble. This helped keep the supply below the demand.

At the same time the amount of sugar cane produced here and imported into this country in the first eight months of 1944 was greater than in 1943.

Because sugar beets were in shorter supply, more cane sugar had to be turned out.

Some mid-western areas which had depended upon beet sugar this fall had to turn to the east coast refineries for cane.

Bishop Gannon Is Given High Honor By Pope Pius XII

Erie, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Bishop John Mark Gannon of Erie diocese today possessed one of the highest honors in the Roman Catholic church—the title of Roman count and the designation of assistant to the pontifical throne of Pope Pius XII.

The Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States, announced the appointment yesterday at a banquet celebrating the dedication of Erie's new $2,000,000 cathedral center.

More than 5,000 persons who took part in the dedication ceremony heard the apostolic delegate say the appointment made "was a mark of his Holiness' esteem and appreciation for Bishop Gannon's labors in the Erie diocese."

Among the hierarchy in attendance were Bishop Joseph Burke of Buffalo; Bishop William T. McCarty, military ordinariate of the United States; Bishop William D. O'Brien of Chicago; Bishop Edward Hoban of Cleveland; Bishop Edward Mooney of Detroit; Bishop James McFadden of Youngstown, O., and Bishop William J. Hafey of Scranton.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver and Robin McKown

How can Germany and Japan be kept from embarking on future wars of conquest? The Brookings Institution has just issued a research study on this subject called "The Control of Germany and Japan," prepared by Dr. Harold G. Moulton, President of the Institution, and Dr. Louis Marbo, French economist and industrialist. The five judges of the Book-of-the-Month Club thought so highly of this work that they have arranged to send copies to the Club's entire membership.

Writes Harry Scherman, President of the Book-of-the-Month Club: "Our Editorial Committee regards the Brookings study as the most enlightening document on the peace, from the point of view of practicality, that has yet been published. The study reveals that there are a certain few economic controls which, if supported by available military force, can be fully effective in all the foreseeable circumstances. These conclusions are so well buttressed with fact and sensible reasoning, and they are so likely to appeal to sober opinion over the world, that they can hardly be ignored by the peacemakers."

In "Tall Talk from Texas" by Boyce House, we found this one about Jake Lyle, who was a candidate for county office out in Central West Texas a good many years ago. One day Lyle was making a speech, when somebody interrupted: "Are you for or against organized labor?" Lyle promptly replied: "I'm opposed to labor, organized or unorganized; that's why I'm a-ruunin' for public office."

Commander Kenneth D. McCracken, in "Baby Flat-Top," tells of paying a call to the navigator of another ship for some local data. The man, with whom he had previously been on good terms, scowled when he came in, paced back and forth, and spoke in angry monosyllables. McCracken was about to give up and leave, when a sailor rushed in. "Air mail letter for you, sir," he said. The navigator grabbed it, studied the handwriting a moment, then his face relaxed. Suddenly he became gracious, charming and talkative. "Sit down while I read this letter from my wife," he said. "When I don't get letters from her, I'm irritable. However," he added earnestly, "I never show my feelings."

Church Notes

At the Sunday morning service at the First Presbyterian church, Rev. Harold C. Warren will use as his sermon topic "Wilt Thou Be Made Whole?" Jackson Barrell will play two organ numbers, Meditation by Clausmann and Like As a Father by Cherubini. The choir will sing As Pants the Hart from The Crucifixion. The PAC Church of Tomorrow schedule is listed elsewhere on this page and the Sunday evening Bible Class will meet at eight o'clock.

"Allies of Faith" will be the sermon theme at the 11 a. m. service in First Methodist church Sunday. The choir, under the leadership of Byron Swanson, will sing "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" by Meier, and Evelyn Wolstencroft will play the following organ numbers: Andante by Beethoven, Träumerei by Schumann and March by Petrelli. The board of education is making plans for continuation of the Junior Church for children of 11 years and under, this second service to be held at the same hour as morning worship. The Youth Fellowship will meet at 6:30 p. m., when an interesting program is planned. It is announced the Youth Fellowship party planned for tonight has been postponed.

"A Timely Admonition" will be Pastor J. C. Wygant's message for the morning service in First Evangelical church, with the choir using "Ye That Stand in the House of the Lord" by Spinney for its anthem. At the evening service, Mr. Wygant will speak on "The Holy Spirit's Message to the Churches" and Miss Maxine Custer will sing "When Jesus Walked in Galilee" by Edwards.

Rev. L. W. Drury, who is in Cincinnati conducting a convention, announces that Miss Esther Close, a returned missionary from India, will have charge of services in the local Pilgrim Holiness Mission church on Sunday. Miss Close served under the Oriental Missionary Society and will tell of the spiritual awakening that is coming to that country in these days when so many of the missionary fields are temporarily closed to the gospel messengers. The missionary will speak at both 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. services and an invitation is extended to all interested to attend.

Guest speaker at both morning and evening services in Calvary Baptist church on Sunday will be Rev. C. L. Wessman, Karlstad, Minn.

The offering on Sunday in Bethany Lutheran church in Sheffield will be for the services of the organist, Miss Josephine Benson. Special events listed in this parish in the coming week are: Wednesday, 2:30 p. m., Woman's Missionary Society entertained by Mrs. Angle and Mrs. Jennie Lundgren; Thursday, 8 p. m., choir rehearsal.

Dr. J. A. Galbraith, head of the Jamestown District, will preach at the 8 p. m. service Sunday in Lander Methodist church and will, at the same time, conduct the first quarterly conference of the new church year.

Girls To Unfurl Their Own Flag At Beauty School

Girl Scouts here will have an opportunity to see for the first time the flag of the World Association of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides when one of their number unfurls it in the color ceremony at the Beauty School auditorium at four o'clock Sunday afternoon. Troop of Grace Methodist church will furnish the color guard.

This bright blue flag, designed by the head of the Norwegian Girl Scout Association, has special meaning for all Girl Scouts now moving into the liberated countries and to bring to the boys and girls a more normal recreation than they have had for many years.

The flag was purchased for use at the area conference for Girl Scouts held in September, but has not been seen by the girls themselves.

Mrs. Robert Carlson, leader of troop 11 and president of the Warren County Girl Scout Leaders' association, will welcome the participants in the Beauty School service for which the theme is "Girl Scouts and the America of Tomorrow."

The theme will be carried through the ceremony which will be given by Senior Girl Scouts at the address by Chester Seymour.

At the conclusion of the program, the audience will sing Taps and stand silently for the echo on a distant bugle.

The Girl Scouts will be guests of the Beauty School at the service which all members of the Girl Scout organization, their parents and friends are invited. Members of Girl Scout Troop 19, First Lutheran church, will act as ushers for the event.

Thornberry and a policewoman, who Dunbar said had filed an information with a Philadelphia magistrate charging kidnaping.

The baby, meanwhile, was taken to Rosella Foundling and maternity hospital.

Dunbar said Mrs. Cook told him she and Mrs. Allen roomed together in Wilmington, Del., while their husbands were stationed there. She took the baby on a shopping trip in Philadelphia last Sept. 6 with the mother's permission, Dunbar said.

The detective said the woman told him she was to meet Mrs. Allen at the railroad station and turn the baby over to her before catching a train to Pittsburgh. Mrs. Allen did not appear, she added, and she took Nancy with her to Pittsburgh.

Dunbar said Mrs. Cook claimed she wrote to Mrs. Allen several times about Nancy but received no reply.

Snow Covers The Hills Over This County

Mother Carey's chickens got a good going over during the past 24 hours and this morning the hillsides of the county were covered with a layer of snow. The snow began falling last evening about 8:30 and big flakes pelted down merrily for some time. About an inch of snowfall was reported in some sections of the county.

This morning a flurry was experienced and cars and roofs were given a coating of snow. However it melted soon.

The weather report is for continued cool with scattered showers turning to snow today and cold Saturday. No snow is promised for Saturday and fair skies are hoped for by the teen agers who will be out in force for the football game here with Ridgway.

Coal Truck Burned After Bad Accident

A large Reo coal truck owned by George W. Francisco, Marble, Pa., was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon about 2:30 on Route 62 two miles south of the Irvine bridge. The truck which was driven by Carl W. Motter, also of Marble was loaded with coal and was being driven north on the highway. Near the scene of the accident the left front tire exploded. The driver lost control of the truck and it careened across the highway hitting the guard fence and taking out 15 posts. It finally overturned. The driver escaped without injury. The crash took place about 9 o'clock according to State Police.

In the afternoon Motter with a companion returned to the scene and endeavored to right the big machine. In some way during the work of getting it back on its wheels the truck caught fire. An alarm sent a fire truck from Youngsville and the emergency truck from Warren. The fire was extinguished but the truck is a total wreck.

The loss to the truck and contents is estimated at $2,000.

THIS MAN HAS "PULL"!

HE ALONE among the 135,000,000 of us can get what he wants, when he wants it. New tires. Gasoline. Shoes. Telephone service...

Nearly all the manufacturing facilities of the producers of telephone equipment, in fact, are still busy keeping ahead of his needs for special communication and secret, electronic equipment.

This is why there's a waiting-list for home telephone service... and why we're short of switchboards, cable, telephone instruments, and 101 other things to meet the needs of more than 80,000 patient people in this State alone.

THAT'S NOT THE WHOLE STORY...

After civilian equipment is produced, there's the tremendous job of fitting this new equipment into the living mechanism of the telephone system. Miles of cable must be laid under city streets and along country roads. Hundreds of switchboards must be installed. Buildings must be enlarged or built again.

Yes—it's a tremendous job. But it's right down our alley, and we'll get it done.

MEANWHILE—

you bet your life—only GI Joe has "pull."

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Warren Co. War Fund Drive Is Successfully Concluded

With Total of $89,131.39

(From Page One)

Division raised $3,240 in 1943 but this year complains it is on the verge of disaster due to the catastrophic disappearance of the click-click machines which subtract loose coins from pants pockets and pour them into bulging treasuries—but alas, where are the snows of yesterday?

At this point in the proceedings the plot thickened and a horse race finish became even more evident. "What about Division G?" "Will they make it?" "If they do fall down, will it be enough to tip the scales toward the failure side?"

Well, division G has perhaps the hardest job of all. Its territory is all of Warren County outside the Borough. Its population includes some 23,000 as against the Borough's 15,000. Its homes are, in part, scattered. Its roads are not always paved. Sometimes a soldier must drive five miles over mud roads to come back with a dollar—or maybe not come back with a dollar. Chairman Allen Gibson, that public-spirited public official, knows how hard the job really is and has shown exemplary patience in the assembling of team reports from all over the county. Yet, on the other hand, Division G is not all mud and tall timber. It has some good-sized communities including Sheffield, Clarendon, Gungar Grove, Youngsville, Russell, and a dozen others. It has a number of industrial plants within its domain, including the county's largest.

So—what about "the county" with its quota of $25,000 as against the borough quota of $63,700? On the answer hinged the outcome of the whole drive. Some say Warren countyans are thinking too much about the election to worry about the War Fund. Some say that some of our citizens are spending a good share of their time trying to get that guy out of the White House. Your reporter wouldn't know about this. But, anyway, what about Division G?

Well, the final report for Division G was $22,958.02, and this included an estimated $1,800 from districts that didn't have their reports ready. While this was a decrease from the quota of some $20,419.98, it was not enough of a disaster to tip the scales of the grand total below the quota. The drive was a success.

"The toughest campaign since 1935" was the way Chester Allen described this 1944 drive in a short talk after the last report was in and the tumult and the shouting had died. He pointed out that the campaign had had to meet terrific obstacles; first, the fact that an additional 3,500 men are out of Warren county in the services since 1943, second, that war head-lines and anxiety for sons and brothers and husbands are uppermost in the minds of many prospects; third, that many citizens are thinking about the election and some of the time of some of our leaders is being spent in political activity. He said that, on the whole, we did a better job than last year when we got several thousand dollars more. He ended by predicting that scattered late returns, particularly from the county districts, would swell the total to over $90,000.

Chairman Edward W. Johnson, then expressed his thanks to all workers, division heads, and captains and campaign manager Henry Candy seconded the motion. Thus the critical and final meeting came to a close.

Yes, we made our quota—"by the skin of our teeth."

Duke-Army—The experts say this will be the Cadets' first real test. Army.

Navy-Pennsylvania—It's Penn's hard luck that the Middies won everything but the game at Georgia Tech last week. With proper respect for undefeated Penn' out it will string along with the Navy.

In their only game in the new league so far, the Flyers went to a 1 to 1 deadlock at Indianapolis.

Dragons Battle For 6th Win Of Season At Russell Field Against Powerful Elk Eleven

Tomorrow Warren High School football followers will have their last chance to witness the Dragons on home soil as they play host to the powerful Ridgway Elks at Russell Field at 2:30 p. m. The local eleven goes into battle with five wins, two losses, and a tie to their credit so far this season. After taking a stinging loss from Bradford High's Owls last Friday, the Dragons will be in the contest every minute to avenge the defeat Friday and to down the Elks, who have the most outstanding record in a good many years.

Coach J. B. Leidig, after having to revamp his lineup on several occasions this season, will put on the field Saturday the most potent combination in order to outbatle the Ridgway crew.

Warren's line will be most powerful against the outstanding Ridgway ground and air attack. At the end posts will be the Dragon's stellar pass receiver, Bob Sealise, and Joe Allen, who was in the backfield during the first of the season. Big "Stonewall" Zobrest and Paul Pickers will be at the tackle positions; and Bugs Gerardi and Jay White will be at their regular guard spots. Big Captain Mac Sirrianni will remain at the center of the forward wall.

In the backfield George Lucia will be calling the plays and doing most of the aerial work. Powerhouse Red Lee, the most spectacular runner on the local crew, and Bob Wilder will manipulate the halfback posts. Dave Marti, the Dragons' line plunger, will be at the tail back post. Coach Castelfero, head mentor of the Elk eleven has announced no beginning lineup. However, the Elks are bolstered by the stellar ground and aerial work of Carl Bengston, 192 pound fullback. Bengston was injured earlier in the season but is expected to be in top shape for the last home game. The passing feats performed by the Ridgway back are among the spectacular plays exhibited by the Elks.

One of the largest crowds to attend the Russell Field performance this season is anticipated at the Saturday meet. The Dragons will have to be on the alert each minute of the game in order to defeat the Elks. The opening kickoff will be at 2:30 p. m., and the Harry Summers' Dragon band will be present to add more thrills to the tilt.

Probable Warren Lineup: Ends—Sealise and Allen; Tackles—Zobrest and Dickerson; Guards—White and Gerardi; Center—Sirrianni; Quarterback—Lucia; Halfbacks—Lee and Wilder; Fullback—Dave Marti.

BEHIND THE LINES

Tip To Hunters

An excerpt from an article in Pennsylvania Game News, of particular interest these days:

That the large type bandanna in both the red and the blue color can be utilized for purposes other than wiping one's nose is evidenced by the many uses experienced out door men have put them to in an emergency when afield or astream.

The bandanna's usefulness outdoors is not something new, for its value and aid to sportsmen dates back to early American history. The cowboy of our western plains and deserts used it, not for its decorative effect as most people believe, but to protect his nose and mouth from dust storms, and from the dust raised by the cattle's hooves as he rode herd or on the trails to market.

Logging men of the past decade used it during winter to protect their ears from frostbite when ear muffs were not available. And last but not least, the Boy Scouts wear a bandanna not merely as an ornament, but for a diversity of purposes such as an emergency bandage, a signal flag, a tourniquet, etc.

Thus outdoor men need not become some of the articles they forget, break, or lose on a hunting, fishing, or camping trip because nine times out of ten a bandanna can often be substituted adequately for them. They can be substituted for anything from a belt that will hold up your pants, to caulking for a boat in order to keep you afloat.

The average outdoor man about to embark on a trip into the wilds should carry no less than two bandannas in his possession at all times, and two more tucked away in his pack basket or duffel bag. Then if he needs them they will not be parked on the shelves of some dry-goods store.

In case of personal injury such as a snake bite or cuts that sever a vein or artery a bandanna may spell the difference between life and death. It can be applied as a tourniquet by looping it around the arm or leg and tying the ends together so a stick can be inserted and twisted to stop the flow of blood or spread of poison until the wound can be properly treated. Sure, other articles of clothing can be torn up into strips that will serve the same purpose, but a man needs all the clothing he has to keep him warm, especially when traveling light or when the weather is cold, when weak from such an injury.

For aches and pains a cold or hot compress, depending on the remedial measures necessary, made from a bandanna will give relief from headaches, sinus trouble, bee and nettle stings, and mosquito bites. If a bandage is needed for the head, hand, arm, leg or foot it will serve in that capacity too. If you sprain an ankle it will serve as a triangular bandage to ease the pain until you

YOUR WASTE PAPER MAKES PLANE PARTS - JUNKS JAP ZEROS

When gunning where there is a large concentration of hunters you can use two bandannas for protection by sewing a red one on the back of your hunting coat, and by taking another one, splitting it, and sewing it on each side of the front of your coat. Its vivid color will serve to warn other hunters that behind it is a man, not a four-footed animal.

About Town
Some members of the high school football team have contracted leg infections. Two of the linemen and one back are suffering from these infections. However, they will be in the game at full speed Saturday. . . . Pin boys seem to be the greatest handicap to bowlers in the town. Many wish to bowl are forced to look up the hard-to-get pin boys. . . . Duck hunting seems to be at the poorest stage in many seasons. . . . Three Kinds of Pensions Are Provided for War Veterans

Editor's note: This is another in a series on veterans' benefits, ranging from demobilization to jobs and pensions.

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Oct. 27—(P)—There are three kinds of pensions for war veterans. Two for disability due to military service. The third is for disability not connected with military service.

Group one: For those disabled in line of duty there is a pension based upon the degree of disability. This could be anything from a stiff wrist or bronchitis to loss of an eye or limb.

The degree of disability ranges from 10 percent to 100 percent (total disability).

These pensions are paid at the rate of $1 per percentage point—starting at 10 per cent—plus 15 per cent.

The degree of disability is determined by a board of specialists within the veterans' administration which pays the pensions. The board consists of a doctor, lawyer and occupation expert.

If a veteran is discharged from service with a certificate of disability, the specialists' board generally takes the say-so of the army or navy doctors for his condition. A man discharged as well and able, in the opinion of army or navy doctors, may file a claim for disability pension any time after his discharge if he thinks he has a just claim.

Group two: Veterans who have lost some part of the body—like an arm, leg, hand, eye—get a flat, fixed pension payment. And this is in addition to the pension paid for disability on a percentage basis as outlined in group one above.

Some of these fixed, total payments are, for the loss of both hands or both feet, or one hand and one foot, $165 monthly; for the loss of both eyes, or both hands and one foot, or both feet and one hand, $190; for the loss of both eyes and one hand or one foot, $215; for the loss of both eyes and both hands or both feet or one hand and one foot, $265; for the loss of both hands and both feet, $265.

This should be noted: "Loss of use" is considered the same as "loss" in specific payments for disability.

Group three: There is a flat $50 monthly pension for a veteran disabled after military discharge by a cause not connected with military service. But there are rigid conditions attached to this pension.

To get it the veteran must: be permanently and totally disabled; have an annual income, if not married, not exceeding $1,000 or, if married, not exceeding $2,500; have had at least 90 days' military service or been discharged for disability if he served less than 90 days. And he can't get the pension if the disability resulted from misconduct.

All of these pensions are free of state and federal taxes.
(Pensions for survivors of servicemen and veterans.)
